About the Conference

Biology is a classical discipline which specializes in studying the characteristics of plants & animals, their behavior, structure, and their life in general, at the individual and group levels. This also includes studying the relationship of living beings and their interaction with the environmental elements surrounding them whether living or non- living. For prehistoric human, animals were only the source of food. Humans started domesticating animals over time, which led them to observe their lives and activities in order to maximize the benefits of their goods. Since then, Zoology has advanced steadily and had witnessed numerous advancements from tiny insects to enormous mammals, Zoology sheds light on Earth's amazing diversity. Zoology has changed dramatically over the years, particularly during the Age of Enlightenment when researchers started to delve deeper. In addition to serving as the foundation for research, Zoology and allied disciplines including animal genetics, evolution, variety, protection and use of animal products, and animal models are crucial to the growth of multi disciplinary fusions of different sciences including pharmacology and forensic science.

The present conference in the Department of Zoology, Ch. Charan Singh University under the broad theme will provide a platform for students, researchers, academicians, professionals in the relevant field, business leaders, government officials, industry experts and general public with a strong interest to discuss various topics of scientific interest.

The success of the University students in NET, GATE, ARS, GRE and other examinations such as civil and administrative services, etc. speaks of the standard and quality of education provided by the University. The research activities in various departments of the University are supported by grants in the form of research projects sanctioned by UGC, CSIR, DBT, DST, ICSSR, AICTE and other funding agencies of the central and State Governments.

About the Department of Zoology

The rich legacy of Department of Zoology begins with its establishment in 1977. Since then the Department was recognized as DST-FIST department by Department of Science and Technology, Government of India. The Department has also been awarded Innovative Assistance Programme (IAP) by the UGC and Centre of Excellence by GoUP. The department provides advance education at M.Sc., and Ph.D. levels. Besides giving thorough grounding in basic Zoology, it lays emphasis on deep understanding of applied aspects of Cell and Molecular Biology, Biochemistry, Physiology, Immunology, Genetics, Ecology and Animal Behavior. The department offers specialization in the areas of Endocrinology, Chronobiology and mechanisms of Animal Behaviour, Parasitology, and Fish and Fisheries. Currently, the Department has H index of 31, and nearly 20 projects have been executed (one ongoing). The Research activities are supported by Government funding agencies like UGC, DBT, DST and CSIR.

About the Zoological Society of India

The Zoological Society of India (ZSI) is the oldest academic body in India, established on 7th January 1936, at Lahore, with the primary objective of providing a platform for quality academics and research in the field of Zoology and related allied fields. Since its inception, the Society has progressed steadily under the able guidance of Prof. B.N. Pandey (President, ZSI) and is flying high towards reaching higher standards in the pursuit of academic and research impact and outreach, furthering its objectives. The Society holds annual All India Congress of Zoology and conducts simultaneous National/International seminars, symposia, and conferences for brainstorming discussions and promulgation of the recent advances in the Zoological sciences. This endeavor serves as a prestigious meeting point for researchers/ academicians / scientists/experts in the field, the student community and the society. The Zoological Society of India has successfully completed 85 years of its Journey, and till date has organized India Congress of Zoology at different central and state universities across India. It is headquartered at Gaya, Bihar and has one branch office at Baba saheb Bhimrao Ambedkar (Central) University, Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh; besides six Regional centers located at Agra, Aurangabad, Satna, Chennai, Lucknow and Jaipur. The Society annually confers Fellowships and has instituted 20 Awards/Medals to encourage the academic and research community. The Zoological Society of India also publishes a biannual, peer-reviewed, and indexed Journal, the "Proceedings of the Zoological Society of India".
